

Vinton Gray "Vint" Cerf (born June 23, 1943) is an American computer scientist who is recognized as one of the "fathers of the Internet".

In the early days, Cerf was a program manager for the United States Department of Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Vinton Cerf was instrumental in the funding and formation of ICANN from the start. Cerf waited in the wings until the late 1990s when he became a member of the ICANN Board of Directors.
